Biography

Mick Ricereto is a watercolorist, photographer and printmaker in Philadelphia, PA. An interior designer by profession, Mick attended Spring Garden College (now Jefferson University) in the late 1980s when hand drawing and perspective were still core curriculum. In March 2020 Mick began a series of finely-detailed watercolor renderings in response to the beautiful desolation of newly-abandoned streets during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Mick had a 22-piece solo exhibition at Abington Arts Center in October 2024. In addition to recent invitational group exhibitions at Cerulean Arts, Off the Wall Gallery and Eiland Arts in Merchantville, NJ, Mick continues to show at The Philadelphia Sketch Club, and The Trenton City Museum. Mick additionally shows with the Philadelphia-based collaborative group Digital Artists Collective (DAC) with 2026 group shows in Millville, NJ and the Eclipse Gallery in Lansdale, PA. Mick served 4 years as the Exhibition Chair of The Plastic Club in Philadelphia, the oldest continually-running members club founded by women in America.
